Quarantined Families in Dixon Facing Hunger

SMALLPOX PATIENTS' BILLS FOR NEEDED SUPPLIES TURNED DOWN BY BOARD; MAYOR'S PLEA FUTILE

Supervisors Say City is Responsible for Their Welfare

The story of several families, said to be facing hunger, quarantined for smallpox, their parents power cut off and children without food, failed to soften the hearts of members of the county board of supervisors in their closing session yesterday afternoon and indications now point to further steps being taken to ascertain who is responsible for the payment for supplies furnished these sufferers, amounting to $119.81, which were turned down by the board. In the meantime the judiciary committee of the board will appeal to Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom for an opinion as to whether the city of Dixon or the county is obliged to pay the bills this contracted.

After the board had adjourned sine die yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Mayor Frank D. Palmer and Dr. J. B. Werren, city health officer, went to the court house, hastily summoned the members of the board together and made a final appeal for their consideration of the matter. In presenting the situation to the board Mayor Palmer said:

Mayor Tells Situation
"In a city of the size of Dixon there are families, who, if the day's work stops, their source of supply stops. They live a hand to mouth existence. The city is required by the state law to quarantine cases of communicable diseases, the same as in the townships of the county. At present we have several cases of smallpox in the city and these are mostly among the poorer families."

"State officers from the health department who are in the city at the present time have intimated that I have not done my duty as mayor at this time by not furnishing vaccine. The city, gentlemen stands ready to furnish vaccine. I call your attention to one instance reported to me a short time before coming here in which a family with three children have not eaten since last night. The wage earner in this instance is confined and the income has stopped. There is no provision made for the feeding of him or his family."

"The city of Dixon pays about two-fifths of the taxes into the county treasury to a fund used for this purpose. Supervisor Spencer has been very careful in expending the county's money and has been charged with being too strict. Is he to be prevented from caring for the poor people of Dixon by the members of this board? Gentlemen, I ask you to consider carefully and thoughtfully your action in behalf of the poor of this city who are in need and face starvation at this time."

Brucker in Reply.
Supervisor Brucker of China township, who was a leader in the action which halted the allowing of the Dixon claims, was the first to answer the Mayor.

"I feel that it is my duty to express my standing to the Mayor at this time. Personally I have no grudge against the city of Dixon. This board is exerting every effort to find out the right and proper action in this matter, and will appeal to the Attorney General for a decision if necessary. Personally, I believe that the city of Dixon is responsible for the care of these families who have been quarantined, at least temporarily, and if the decision places the responsibility upon this board, the city will be reimbursed."

State's Attorney Mark Keller, to whom the judiciary committee had appealed for an opinion on the matter, which had not been received when the body adjourned, was called upon and explained the legal meaning and qualifications of a pauper. He told the board that in his opinion these families were paupers while in this condition and without means to care for their families.

Supervisor Spencer in reply to a suggestion that the opinion from the Attorney General would likely be received in time for the special organization meeting next month, said:

Buzzard Wrecks Marine Airplane; Kills Occupants

Managua, March 9—(AP)—A buzzard, slow and clumsy in flight, today was credited with having brought to earth a fast moving American Marine plane, killing its occupants.

The plane, carrying Captain William C. Byrd of Orangeburg, South Carolina, pilot, and Sergeant Rudolph A. Frankforter of Quantico, Virginia, observer, was flying from Ocotlan on a test flight. Speeding along over the heavily wooded country it was believed to have struck a large buzzard, breaking a strut supporting the right wing. As the plane was about to land on the field at Esteli, the wing collapsed.

The plane began to turn over and over. The aviators jumped from a height of approximately 250 feet. At that altitude their parachutes failed to open. Both men were killed instantly.

Captain Byrd had been with the Marines for 12 years and had one year in the aviation service. He trained at Pensacola. Previously he had been in service in Nicaragua.

Captain Byrd and Sergeant Frankforter came to Nicaragua about three weeks ago aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

CHICAGO GANGS ARM FOR WAR

LOVING TRIBUTE TO A. E. TAYLOR AT FINAL RITES

Funeral Services of Beloved Citizen at His Church

The funeral of Allen E. Taylor, widely known and greatly beloved resident of Dixon, who passed away suddenly Monday afternoon, was held at the First Methodist Episcopal church at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. A. Turley Stephenson, the pastor, officiating, assisted by Dr. E. C. Lumsden, District Superintendent. The church auditorium was filled with sorrowing friends, including members of the Dixon Commandery, Knights Templar, Dixon Council, U. C. T., and the Neighbourly Class of the M. E. Sunday school, for whom seats had been reserved.

The floral tributes were many and elaborate, well bespeaking the affectionate regard in which Mr. Taylor was held; and during the sad services Mrs. Allain Read and Mrs. Katherine Ballou sang several beautiful hymns.

Templar Burial
The burial service at Oakwood was the beautiful ritual of the Commandery, and many friends assembled at the graves reverently uncovered, as the beloved man was laid to rest in a lot fronting Sleepy Hollow drive, just up the hill from the mausoleum. It is an appropriate resting place for Mr. Taylor—there "by the side of the road"—where his friends will often pass, read his name and think of him with tender remembrance.

Relatives and friends present at the funeral, in addition to many of Mr. Taylor's customers in Clinton, Morrison, Sterling, Ashton, Rockford and other places, were: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Taylor and daughter of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Park and daughter of Cedar Falls, Ia.; Miss Carolyn Taylor of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor of St. Catherine, Ontario; Mrs. Dr. Karm of London, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Minor of Peoria; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Newton of Oshkosh, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pil of Belvidere; Grand Councilor Main of the U. C. T. of Rockford; I. W. Hart, manager of transportation for Franklin MacVeach, Chicago.

Opening remarks at the church Rev. Stephenson read an "Appreciation" from the Neighbourly Class, which he said typified the sentiment of the community. It was:

AN APPRECIATION
Greatheart is dead. The stalwart form is laid low. The kindly, beautiful eyes are veiled, unseeing, behind un-opening lids. The heart that had room for a thousand friendships and beat warm in them all is now stilled.

A. E. Taylor loved his fellow men. To the angel presence in his room Ben Adhem spoke more low and said: "Pray thee, then, write me as one that loves his fellow men." The angel wrote and vanished. The next night he came again with a great waking light and showed the names whom love of God had blessed. And lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest.

It is an exceeding debt that the Neighbourly class owes to Greatheart. His class was never far from his thoughts. In the twenty years since he, with others, organized it no member has served it more faithfully. More than half the period of its existence he was its president. And unreservedly the class loved him in return.

May the God whom he worshipped and whom he loved grant him rest and congenial employments, a larger place, and an un-ending reunion with his loved ones.

Farewell, Brother Taylor! God grant us all to meet with you in that fair country which He has reserved as the abiding place of His blest.

Holy Cross, Alaska, March 9—(AP)—With the last dog team left in this eastern Alaska village, Alphonso Demientieff musher, today was searching for the frozen tundra of a treacherous portage between the Yukon and the Kuskokwim rivers, southwest of here. Miss Mabel Smith of the Miller Music Co., is confined to her home by illness.

DIXON HIGH SCHOOL QUINTET WINS FIRST TOURNEY BATTLE FROM AMBOY; STERLING NEXT

Crippled Team from This City to Face the Champions

The crippled Dixon high school basket ball team upset the dope bucket in the district tournament at Sterling this morning, by coming from behind to take the Amboy team into camp, 18 to 15, contrary to the expectation of some of the experts, who said Amboy had a good chance to win from the local aggregation, which is minus two of its star performers because of sickness.

The victory, however, is accompanied by "something else again," for it means Dixon will have to go up against the Sterling high school aggregation at 9 o'clock this evening and Sterling has a crackerjack outfit which won the Rock River Conference championship, and which is touted to win the tournament now under way.

Fans to Attend
But despite the almost sure drubbing in store for the game Dixon leads this evening, a goodly number of local fans plan to attend the battle, which will get under way at 9 o'clock, and to accommodate the locals who want to attend, Coach A. C. Bowers had had some tickets for tonight's game on sale at Sterling's pharmacy and the Golf Shop.

The Amboy high school team played a great game this morning and until the final minutes of play it looked very much as if the advance dope would come true and Dixon would be eliminated in its first game. At the half Amboy had a lead of 10 to 6 over Dixon, but in the last half, inspired by Teeter's determined pull, the boys from this city got going and pulled the game out of the fire. Ohio defeated Erie 17 to 17 in this morning's other game.

The story of Thursday afternoon and evening games will be found on page 12.

COL. SMITH MADE BITTER ATTACK ON U. S. SENATE

Illinois' Un-seated Senator Tells the Inside of Affair

Col. Frank L. Smith figuratively ripped the hide off the United States Senate in the opening speech of his campaign for renomination and reelection to that body at Bloomington last night.

Pointing out he was nominated April 13, 1926, with a record majority of more than 100,000 votes and elected on November 2, 1926, by more than 800,000 after "as severe an ordeal as any candidate has ever been subjected to in our time in Illinois," he raised the following question:

"But, fellow Republicans, what are 800,000 citizens of Illinois to half a hundred United States senators? What is the whole 7,000,000 of our people to that little half a hundred, when presidential nominating conventions are approaching and the very second Democratic desk in the Senate chamber is ornamented with a lightning-rod, as well as several Republican desks?"

Continuing, he said:

"Now, an almost universal symptom of the lightning-rod ailment is a lust for publicity. No sooner does a senator, or layman, feel that he has had a 'call' to be his party's choice for President that he begins to yearn for the first page of the newspapers."

"And another unfailing symptom of the lightning-rod ailment is that he feels that he must convince the world that whatever the faults and failings of another may be, he himself is 'pure.'"

"It is an established psychological fact that most men labor under the conviction that the sure-fire cross-cut to publicity is to attack some one. It is another established psychological fact that most men believe the unfailing method of establishing (Continued on page 9)

THREAT OF HOLY WAR CAUSE SOME TALK IN BRITAIN

Uneasiness in Some Circles Over New Reports of War

London, Mar. 9—(AP)—Uneasiness over the threat of desert warfare in Arabia prevailed in London today with some reports current that an attack had already been launched and others that hostilities were expected hourly.

Dispatches from Basra, Iraq, said that Ibn Saud's fanatical Wahabi tribesmen had launched their "holy war against the infidel" by attacking and capturing villages in Transjordan. The overland motor route from Damascus to Bagdad also was stated to have been closed. None of the usual near-eastern news centers, nearer the scene than Basra, mentioned any outbreak of fighting in Transjordan, however.

Three Wahabi camps were reported from Amman, Palestine, to have been located, but this was not confirmed. Such a concentration would indicate that an attack was planned on Transjordan.

In the meantime the British government continued preparations to stem any assault on its mandated territories. At Koweit, near the frontier of Ibn Saud's sultanate of Nejd, British Marines and bluejackets patrolled the streets. Ten British armored cars, ten airplanes and a number of transport cars were stationed outside of the walls of the city. Apparently the government considered the forces already in the near east adequate to deal with the situation, for no reinforcements were being sent there from other parts of the empire.

Financier is Ill

Nice, France, March 9—(AP)—Howard Gould, American financier, today was reported seriously ill at the Monteboron Hospital near Nice.

It was learned that an operation was performed on Mr. Gould yesterday by Lord Dawson of Penn. King George's personal physician, who came to the Riviera for the purpose.

While saying that Mr. Gould was a patient, the hospital authorities refused to state the nature of his illness but said that he was "comfortable" this afternoon.

POLICE SEEKING 6 MACHINE GUNS THAT DISAPPEAR

Mystery in Order to Manufacturer and Their Delivery

Chicago, March 9—(AP)—Police, seeking trace of a shipment of six machine guns which was mysteriously disappeared, were convinced today that Chicago gangland is arming for another violent episode of its stormy career.

The machine guns recently were ordered in the name of the Mexican-American Company, 10 South LaSalle street, who directed the weapons be shipped to a West Taylor street warehouse. Police learned of the purchase and shipment through Alexander Dunlap, Chicago representative of Col. H. M. Thompson, inventor of the guns. Dunlap said a bad check was given in payment and that upon investigation he learned that no such company had ever occupied offices at the address given.

Hard to Buy Guns.
Under present laws gunmen have found it difficult to buy guns locally.

The man who negotiated the purchase gave the name Dave Goldberg. The bank upon which the check was drawn, Dunlap said, reported the company once had a small account there, which has been closed for some time.

Police believe that one of the weapons in the Mexican-American Company shipment may have been used Tuesday night in the attack upon Jack McGurn, associate of Al (Scarface) Capone, long labelled a gang leader.

Union Agent Shot.
Daniel Tognotti, 35, business agent for the Excavating Workers' Union, who a year ago suspected a trap was being prepared for him and sent Vivarillo Gualagni, 30, to keep an appointment in his place, was probably fatally shot last night. Gualagni was shot to death the previous time.

Tognotti was struck by five bullets from the pistol of an unidentified assailant. He refused to discuss the shooting. Police believe it was another effort to kill him by the same enemies who sought his life a year ago.

House Bombed Today.
Withdrawal from a junk dealers' union was given by Manuel Rudman, junkman on the westside, as the reason for the bombing of his home shortly after midnight today.

Rudman, his wife and five children were thrown from their beds by the explosion of a large dynamite bomb which demolished the entrance to their three-story brick home. Plaster was knocked from all walls, and all windows were smashed in the Rudman and neighboring homes.

Two Bond Robberies.
Two bond robberies netted thieves $48,100 in negotiable securities yesterday.

The first was in South LaSalle street offices of Home, Snow & Co., brokers, where $23,100 in bonds was taken from a cashier's cage just before closing time.

Joseph Spanier, in charge of the bonds, said he had gathered them together with the intention of depositing the min a bank vault. Turning away for a few minutes, he said, the bonds were gone.

The other robbery in the offices of the Charles Hollenbach Sausage Co. late last night was executed by five masked men, who overpowered the watchman, blew the safe and escaped with $25,000 in gold bonds and $300 cash.

Train Struck School Bus: Two Were Killed

Marble Rock, Ia., March 9—(AP)—Pushing through a blinding snow storm late yesterday a Rock Island passenger train crashed into a home-going group of school children, smashing their bus to bits, killing two of the young passengers injuring 15 others and the bus driver at a crossing near here.

Roger Stauffer, 10 and Harrison May, 12, sons of farmers living near here were instantly killed. All the children, who had left the Marble Rock consolidated school for their home just before 4 o'clock were injured, seven so seriously that they were taken to a Waterloo hospital aboard the train.

During the first day of collection $40,740.06 found its way into the county coffers. Many property owners, rather than stand in line at the Treasurer's office, are mailing their payments.

Cousin is Dead

Mrs. Thomas Logue, cousin of W. J. Hutton of Sterling, and M. J. Hutton of Dixon, passed away at the family home in Chicago Wednesday afternoon after an illness extending over a period of about a year. Mrs. Logue was about 50 years of age. She is survived by the husband, two sons, John and Ed, and one daughter, Frances, wife of George Ferguson, all of Chicago. Mr. Logue formerly resided in Sterling.

Funeral services will be held from the late home, 2928 Flournoy street, Chicago, on Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in Chicago.

Over 200 Workers in Dixon Church Census

Over two hundred Dixon citizens intention to take part in the religious census of the city next week. This task, in which practically all churches are participating, has met with enthusiastic approval, all agreeing that it is one of the best constructive pieces of work to be done at this time. Workers are to meet at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening for a scramble supper, at which time they will receive final instruction.

The actual survey starts Tuesday morning at 9 and several of the captains have declared that their work will be finished in one day. However, as it will probably be impossible to find everybody at home, the work will continue for three days and it is expected that every house in the city and vicinity will be included. Captains of districts have been fully instructed in their duties and it is expected the task is to be accomplished in record time as much enthusiasm is evident.

Ray Herbst went to Chicago Thursday where he disposed of a load of cattle.

Thomas Geiger's Farm in Nelson Scene of Stolen Cache

More than a ton of creamery butter, valued at about $1,500 was seized in a raid this morning on the Thomas L. Geiger farm west of Dixon in Nelson township on the Rock Island road. Lieut. Stanley Sonnenberg of the C. & N. W. special agents force and four deputies from the office of Sheriff Ward Miller went to the Geiger home armed with search warrants and state warrants for the arrest of Geiger and his hired man, George Dunn, aged 19, about noon today.

The butter, which was packed in 65 pound tubs was thrown from an east-bound fast freight train about 10 o'clock last night in the rear of the Geiger farm along the North-Western cut off. George Dunn, 19-year-old orphan, who has been living at the Geiger farm for more than two years is said to have told Lieut. Sonnenberg and other officers today of the theft of several thousand dollars worth of butter from North-Western trains during the past year.

Long Investigation.
Lieut. Sonnenberg has been stationed at Dixon for the past several weeks working with Sheriff Ward Miller and his forces in ferreting out the ring of thieves which has stolen tons of butter the past year. The trial is said to have led to the home of the former Nelson township supervisor which has been under surveillance for some time. The theft of the 42 tubs of butter was reported to Lieut. Sonnenberg this morning and search warrants were immediately issued.

Arriving at the Geiger farm, about noon, the officers found Geiger just getting up. Dunn was arrested in the barn yard as he came from the barn. One tub of butter, which is said to have been overlooked when the other tubs were gathered up along the railroad right of way early this morning, was found in the basement. The remaining 41 tubs were in a granary in the barn, where about 50 empty butter tubs were also found. The tubs were easily identified from shipping stamps, and all were consigned to a Chicago commission merchant. Lids from tubs, said to have been stolen from refrigerator cars, consigned from creameries at Sioux City, Iowa, to New York City and Chicago were also found in the granary.

Alleged Confession

Dunn is said to have confessed that the butter robberies have been carried on over a period of months. Last night, he is alleged to have told the officers, Geiger and he went to Nelson, where the former visited with a friend while Dunn broke the seal and opened the door of a car loaded with butter, and climbed in as the train pulled out of the yards, heading east over the cut off.

As the train continued eastward in the rear of the Geiger farm, according to the alleged confession, he threw the butter off and rode in the car as far as Nachusa. It was arranged officers say he said, that Geiger would meet him near Nachusa, and he walked west along the Lincoln Highway to the Burkett school, where Geiger picked him up in an auto and took him back home. Then they hitched up a horse and wagon and drove down along the tracks, gathering up the tubs of butter and hauled them to the barn where they were piled up in the granary. Their work was not completed until about 4 o'clock this morning, it is alleged.

Gathered Up Tubs.
About daylight, Geiger went down along the tracks and found one tub which had been overlooked. Dunn is said to have told the officers, and this one he carried to the house and placed in the basement, where it was found in the search.

It is reported that butter formerly stolen has been hauled to Milledgeville and sold to a large firm at that place, a complete checkup of all of the transactions having been secured during the investigation which has been in progress for several weeks. It was intimated late this after- (Continued on page 2)

German Baron Lost

Out in His Wooing

Chicago, March 9—(AP)—Europe's convenient air service enabled Baron

Richard Von Zinnow of Berlin, as he describes himself, to woo, and nearly win Louise Oppenheimer, 20-year-old daughter of a Chicago broker. His failure in love, he attributes to a

$100,000 suit filed in Superior Court yesterday, to alienation of the young woman's affections by her parents.

Baron Von Zinnow is 23 years old.

He met Miss Oppenheimer in Berlin

while she was traveling with her parents, the petZition relates. Their acquaintance developed, and Baron

Von Zinnow followed the Americans to Paris. He was compelled to return to his home, but with Europe's convenient and frequent airplane service he was able to spend week-ends in the French capital with the girl.

Finally the Oppenheimers decided to return home. The Baron engaged passage on the same ship but business detained him. Later he came to New York and there learned that he was not the father's choice for a son-in-law.

Unwilling to face the humiliation of returning home, he consulted a New York lawyer with the resultant filing of the suit here, he related.

The German "Who's Who" does not

list Von Zinnow. Mr. Oppenheimer

said last night that he had never met

Richard, adding that his daughter was visiting in Atlantic City and New York.

Sinclair Sees Fall

After a dinner last night at the had expected to find him. While they declared to comment on the scheduled reopening of the conspiracy trial

April 2, Dr. H. T. Safford, Mr. Fall's physician, said "it doesn't look as if

Mr. Fall will be strong enough to return to Washington for the trial."

DAILY NEWS OFTEN "DONE"

Often in reading some reports of a local happening in a daily newspaper people wonder how it became so badly tangled. Here is a possible explanation from one of the dailies themselves, reprinted in the Pas Herald of Manitoba, Canada.

During a fire in a village in Ohio, the editor of the local paper, being unable to locate the regular reporter, sent out the society woman who "did" the society gossip. Here is her report as it appeared:

"A brilliant fire was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Slippy, in Hope Street. A large number of people attended the function. Mrs. Slippy, who recently had her hair shingled, made a charming escape in an exceedingly handsome, henna, silk blouse, the pattern of which appeared in our woman's page last week. The firemen, who presented an attractive appearance, were suitably garbed in blue, the tunics being full cut. The weather was quite delightful for an affair of this kind, a strong wind blowing. It is rumored that the fire was on a larger scale than any previous affair of a similar kind for years. It is also rumored that it cost Mr. and Mrs. Slippy about $25,000."

Ideal Club Held

Meeting Wednesday

The Ideal Club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Fulton Wednesday, with nine members responding to roll call, with items in regard to historical landmarks of Illinois. Mrs. Fulton had two guests, Mrs. Jay Atkins, and daughter.

Mrs. Lester Street gave an interesting paper on Mexico, it being more realistic for the fact of her residence in different sections of Mexico for several years. Her interpretation of the life and modes of living were very good. The home life and business, and the hazards of the rough mountainous country were all given justice. After the interesting paper kodak pictures, pottery, baskets and blankets were exhibited. The club members felt that they had been well instructed.

Mrs. H. W. Leydig gave splendid current events. Mrs. L. W. Miller was president pro tem for Mrs. Howard Beam who is confined to her home with illness.

Splendid refreshments were served by Mrs. Fulton and her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Smith and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Community Club in Meeting of Interest

The South Dixon Community Club met on Wednesday with Mrs. Roy Fisher. There were fourteen members and four visitors present to partake of the delicious picnic dinner served at noon. The decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's day. A green potted plant formed the centerpiece at the table, and green shamrock and green streamers added to the artistic effect; also two birthday cakes, one a miniature cake, all decorated for the occasion, baked by Mrs. J. Laubeneiser, and one baked by Mrs. Roy Fischer with the name Helen in green on the white frosting, in honor of Mrs. Helen Lievan.

In the afternoon the meeting was called to order by the president. A short program was given. Mrs. Ida Lievan singing a very delightful solo and Mrs. Carl Ackert singing several delightful St. Patrick's numbers. Later some exciting games were played. The winners of these various games were Mrs. Lauren Henry, Mrs. Lester Ommen and Mrs. Henry Grobe.

A birthday shower consisting of handkerchiefs was then given for Mrs. Helen Lievan, the box of gifts being presented in a green box decorated with shamrocks. Several appropriate verses were read before opening the gifts. Each member is to be given a birthday shower this year, the gift not to exceed ten cents. The following will be given a shower at the next meeting to be held in two weeks for Mrs. Amy Wolfstrom: Mrs. Walter Lievan, Mrs. Henry Grobe and Mrs. Ralph Lehman.

Each one present learned to make some new tie backs for curtains which were very pretty and a good idea for finishing touches for spring house cleaning. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Emma Griegsen and Mrs. Helen Lievan. The guests departed late in the afternoon expressing their pleasure to Mrs. Fischer for the delightful day spent with her.

WERE DINNER GUESTS AT STAGER HOME IN STERLING

Dr. and Mrs. Z. W. Moss were dinner guests last evening of Attorney and Mrs. John M. Stager in Sterling.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Zona Gale, pretty authoress from Portage, Wis., whose "Miss Lulu Bett" alone made her independent for life, says some sensible words on this "cajoling mother" question. "It is taken for granted that a wife and mother shall and can golf, play bridge, dance, drive, pay calls, do all the social racket," says Miss Gale "but the minute this same wife and mother attempts to become a producer, using no more, nor as much time as she used for her social diversions, she is all wrong and the to-do begins."

BABIES FOR SPINSTERS

Miss Gale also suggests the adoption of children by spinsters. To which the best answer is "try 'n' do it." There is hardly a state in the Union which would permit a spinster to adopt a child. Most probate courts grant adoptions only at the request and with the approval of various child welfare agencies, and most such agencies have announced "no babies for spinsters." They insist that no matter how noble a character the spinster is, nor how much she can do for the child materially and spiritually, the child must have both parents, even if mediocre ones.

SPINSTER WELFARE AGENCY

Perhaps in light of the newer philosophy which insists that adults need children more than children need adults, some agency of spinster welfare will have to be organized to fight for their rights, even if they must cross swords with the child welfare. Personally, I think the no-children-to-spinsters rule absurdly silly. To be sure, a spinster might smother a child with affection, and to be sure the ideal state is for a child to have two intelligent parents. But when one observes the very unideal and stupid state in which thousands of children with both parents live, it does not seem as if the one drawback of the spinster mother would be very fatal by contrast. Any spinster who deliberately chooses to rear a child, proves by that very wish that she is the right material for a child's care.

NO FOOD

There is a girl in Spain who has lived nine years without food. Scientists are watching her carefully. Science has talked for some time of the possibility of keeping human beings alive with concentrated "food capsules" bought at the corner drug store, and science admits that some day it might be possible for human beings to live without even the capsules.

Honest now, would you want to go on living, either in a capsule or without food? What a splendid revolution that would mean, economically, commercially, socially! Food and its preparation probably consumes 75 per cent of the world's time and energy, in one form or another. Maybe it's 100 per cent.

SUPPORTING MARRIED CHILDREN

He asserted, and truly, that fathers and mothers who had three or four children to educate according to modern ideas of education, college, and all the rest of it, were compelled to use the savings they had accumulated for old age.

Have any of the advocates of companionate marriage thought, that if it became popular, it would add another two or four or ten years on to the dependence age of children? That parents would be working on into old age itself to buy their offspring more indulgence?

Now here's a new one. A woman whose daughter contemplated marriage with a poor young man, a woman who had expressed herself most vehemently against companionate marriage, said one day to some friends:

"I just told Harry (her husband) that when Lucile got married, it wouldn't hurt him to keep up her allowance just as he did at college. Dick is only earning a hundred and fifty dollars a month at the office and they can't live on that. Lucile has to have a maid—she's so helpless—and rents are abominable."

"So I just told Harry what to expect. He doesn't like the idea, but I'm going to see that he does something for those children anyway." Financially not so different from companionate marriage, is it?

It is not my idea either for Harry, or Lucile, or Dick!

This father has worked since he was fifteen, and is he to keep on working into the sixties and seventies to buy luxuries for a married boy and girl who are stronger than he is? A little assistance now and then is a different thing. No parent wishes to see a child suffer, married or unmarried. But I hope it does not become the style for parents to support married children. It would be the ruination of them anyway. A little struggle now and then, doing without things, sacrifice! What would people be without it?

"Newspapers, School Books of Adults" Are Discussed

Chicago, Ill., Mar. 9—(AP)—Newspapers, "school books of adults," will be subject to the scrutiny of workers for world peace here March 10.

The meeting is a joint session of the League of Women Voters and the Association for Peace Education.

"On the assumption," officials of the conference said, "that the newspaper is the school book of the adult, part of the sessions will be devoted to a discussion of the value of the press in the study of international relations."

James G. McDonald, of the Foreign Policy Association of New York City will lead the critical discussion on the relation of publicity to world harmony. Active representatives of the press who will take part in the discussions are S. J. Duncan Clark of The Chicago Evening Post; Victor Yarros of The Chicago Daily News; and Frederick W. Carr of The Christian Science Monitor.

Pittman B. Potter, professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin and author of numerous texts on various phases of international law and diplomacy, will lead discussions at the morning session, preceding the press study.

Prof. Potter will present his views on international relations in the light that if they were properly handled and presented by the press, they would be "studied from the sheer interest they arouse."

Object of the conference is "to bring to light the various purposes to be served and the possible methods to be followed in the observation and study of international relations."

"Facilities for the study of international relations available today," officers of the conference said, "are richer and at the same time more accessible than ever before. The study of international relations has been made a heavy task, a difficult task, and a tedious duty in the past. There is no reason why this should be."

Origin of Masonry

Sought in America

Amarillo, Texas.—(AP)—The trail which he has followed for 22 years, in quest of proof of the existence of an ancient race to which he believes the foundations of the modern Masonic lodge may be traced, has brought Dr. John Winthrop Sargent to the United States.

He is in Texas to continue his research, which has taken him through Mexico, Central America and most of the South American countries. Dr. Sargent is an explorer and director of the Dr. W. H. K. Staver expedition of the British Royal society, and a nephew of the late John Singer Sargent, the painter.

By tracing the culture of this race through pottery and monument designs, Dr. Sargent says he has become convinced that its civilization was of even a higher order than that of the ancient Egyptians. He says he found proof that that race had a knowledge of irrigation superior to that of modern times.

First evidence of the race in the United States was found at Three Rivers, N. M., he says, and the trail was continued to this vicinity.

The two cultural motifs which he especially seeks portray a man standing with arms upraised, one arm at right angles with the other, and a deer with three arrows piercing its breast.

"These two motifs," he declares "have a decided bearing on an ancient society which has come down to the present and which is found in the Masonic lodge."

Dr. Sargent hopes to go on to Nicaragua to continue explorations which were terminated last December 18, when Sandino, the rebel leader, ordered him out of the country within six hours.

TRIUMPH IN PAN-AMERICA.

The United States is indebted to Charles E. Hughes for the manner in which he emerged from the mist that hung over the Pan-American congress when it convened in Havana. His diplomacy was successful. He towered high in the meeting, and as he returns he stands equally high among his own people. His accomplishments as a statesman shine brightly compared with the position of pettifoggers at home.

Recent strained relations with Mexico and the intervention in Nicaragua were so close to the meeting of the Pan-American congress that there was reason to doubt ability of the United States to come out of the conference with mistrust removed.

It is probably not far from the truth to assert that more of our trouble in diplomacy was attributable to the attitude of politicians at home than to ill feeling among the small republics associated in the union. Representatives of the smaller nations showed enough confidence in the motives and purposes of the United States to result in elimination of distressing actions that had been proposed with support from a certain element in this country.

The Argentine delegate was bent upon removal of the tariff barriers, a thing that this country would not and could not concede. He found himself out of harmony he resigned near the close of the sessions.

Satisfactory agreement was reached in the matter of control of airplane stations in the vicinity of the Panama canal.

Codifications of international law as it applied to this hemisphere raised the question of the Monroe doctrine and interventions. When these points were at issue, Mr. Hughes in no uncertain terms. He said:

"What are we to do when such a government breaks down? Are we to see our American citizens butchered? ... The United States can not forgo its right to protect its citizens. No country can forego that right. International law can not be changed by this conference. We can not codify international law so as to ignore the duties of nations by simply trying to set up an unlimited right of self-will, ignoring duties."

Righteousness of his position was recognized and opposition to it melted. The offensive resolution was withdrawn. Instead of emerging in bad odor leaving other nations in ill humor, the contrary prevailed at the conclusion of the conference.

SAVING PETROLEUM.

Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, has asked the governors of the oil producing states to co-operate with the federal government in getting uniform state and national laws to help conserve our petroleum resources.

We can only hope that his efforts lead to success. Ordinarily we fail to realize just how much our civilization is built on oil; just stop and think for a minute what would happen if we should wake up tomorrow and find our oil all gone. Our entire social fabric would be disorganized.

Oil conservation is one of the most important problems facing us today. It is to be hoped that Secretary Work and the governors can find an effective program.

HOLLAND'S GOLD.

We talk so much about the struggle between New York and London for the world's financial supremacy that we often forget the large part that Holland plays in the markets where gold is king.

The thrifty Dutchman let the world wage its wars while he tended strictly to his knitting. His cast colonial empire in the Orient exported huge quantities of important material, and he made the most of it. Furthermore, at home he was a neutral island in a sea of warring nations. As a result, many financial transactions that ordinarily would have taken place elsewhere were carried on in Amsterdam.

As a result, Holland today is "sitting pretty." Financiers of New York and London have tentacles reaching all over the world; but so, also, do the bankers of Amsterdam.

An Oregon man played a horn the other day and chewed fifty sticks of gum at the same time. We don't know what murder he was being tried for.

A gun seventy feet long, weighting 735,000 pounds, is to be set in the defenses of the Panama Canal. Lindy's good will flight was a grand thing, and all that, and its effect really ought to be lasting, etc.

In Chicago a grand jury indicted a garage man for fraud in making his income tax return. Justice, though blind, occasionally gets a glimpse of what it's all about.

There is nothing new in the world. The flagpole sitters had their day, the channel swimmers theirs, the 100-cups-of-coffee drinkers theirs—and lo! after all these years a Pittsburgh girl wants to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Paris designers declare dresses must cover the knees now. The truth sometimes hurts.

"Six women held in bombing of Chicago train," says a headline. Yes, the ladies are learning.

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

As through the air the queer tub flew, the baker said, "Now all of you had best hang on real tight because we're going to quickly drop. I'll wait till I see Baker's Land. I'm sure it must be near at hand. I know you all will like the place where we are going to stop."

"Oh, my," cried Clowny, "Twirl be fun. It's hot up here, beneath the sun. How I would like to find a stream, and take a little swim. I always find, when I'm worn out, a swim just makes me want to shout. 'Twould do the whole bunch good I'm sure, and put us all in trim.'"

"Well, when we land upon the ground, the stream you hope for may be found," replied the friendly baker. "We will have to wait and see. But anyway, you'll find it worth your time, when we are back on earth, to roam around and see the sights in Baker's Town, with me."

"You'll meet some cakes and cookies, too. I'll introduce them all to you. I'll take you in an oven. It's an interesting spot." Oh, no," cried Copy, "Not for me. That's no place where I care to be. I've always heard it said that every oven's very hot."

"Ho, ho!" the baker man laughed long, and then he said, "No, lad, you're wrong. You do not understand just how an oven works, no doubt. When burning, it's no place to be, but you can leave that all to me. Before I let you enter I'll make sure the fire is out."

And then the tub skinned to the ground. The Tynymites, with one grand bound, leaped out, and then wee Carpy said, "Just look! Well, goodness sake! The doorway to this town is queer." So, all the Tynymites walked up near, and they were quite surprised to find the doorway was a cake.

(The Tynymites visit an oven in the next story.)

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Marye, my dear:

I'm afraid you don't appreciate all the privileges of marriage. Free speech is one of them. I don't mean to say that a husband or wife should be rude to each other or say anything they like but there are times when it is absolutely necessary to blow off steam.

You're still at the serious age in matrimony dear. That is, you take seriously everything your husband says when he is in a temper. But when you've been married longer you will be able to smile at your present attitude.

If Alan lost his temper because you stalled the car I'm sure it was due to nervous excitement and really had nothing to do with you except indirectly.

Another thing, had he been teaching any other woman to drive he wouldn't have cared so much when she failed to handle the car efficiently. With his wife it is different, because your achievements are a matter of pride to him, Marye. If you show superior skill he can boast of it to his friends, and it also does him credit as an instructor.

I've heard people say, though, that a husband should never attempt to teach his wife to drive. And I know it almost led to a separation between Leonard Moseley and Agatha. I think you're right to get a professional instructor, but I wish you wouldn't have that young man throw his arms around your shoulders. I wouldn't trust him, Marye.

Florence was in when your letter came and I told her about the new car. She says she hopes you will drive out this summer. She hasn't found a position yet, so if you should come while she's "at leisure," as she says, you would have someone to drive around with you. Her mother needs her to help at home, she told me. I'm afraid that's true for poor old Mrs. Meredith is failing. But Florence doesn't help much, I guess. She's going around with young Kenneth Oates and you know he's out of a job half the time. They're together most every afternoon. I'd hate to see Florence marry him.

Well, dear, do be careful in your driving, won't you?

With all my love,

MOM.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER
Discounting the Unpleasant (Read Phil. 4:8-20.) Memory Verse: I know how to be abased, and I know also how to abound. (Phil. 3:12.)

Life is a mixture of the agreeable and the unpleasant. Every life is, that is normal. We can not share the common lot of man without experiencing some form of pain. No sensible person expects to be free from it; no wise person desires to be free from it. If we shall think of it as a normal event we shall fortify ourselves to meet it. Instead of resenting its coming, as an unnatural thing, we shall accept it, as the natural. Only as we learn to deal with the unpleasant, as well as with the pleasant, shall we be able to manage life well.

"Man was made for joy and woe. And when this we rightly know, Safely through the world we go."

Prayer: Give us grace, O Lord, to keep our hearts at peace amid the varying tides of life. Joy and sorrow, health and suffering, want and plenty are all parts of the common lot of man. May we shrink from no fortune, but learn to meet each one as it comes. This we ask for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Ye cannot serve God and Mammon. —Matt. 6:24.

Many in hot pursuit have heeded to the goal of wealth, but have lost, as they ran, those apples of gold, the mind and the power to enjoy it. —Tupper.

Rouen Reconstructs

Joan's Death Place

Rouen—(AP)—The site where Joan of Arc was burned at the stake 500 years ago is being restored by the city of Rouen. The old market place has been marked only by a sign.

Vestiges of ancient structures were found during excavation work undertaken in the hope there might be found relics of Joan or something reminiscent of the famous trial and execution. So far there have come to light only the foundations of an old church but the search is being continued.

Hopi Indian Dance Attracts Savants

Hopi, Ariz.—(AP)—Pueblo Indians are preparing for their annual spring festival of the famous Powamu dance. It begins this year about the middle of March, and many persons interested in the folk ways of the southwestern Indians are here to study the ceremony.

From the immemorial the Hopis have held their Powamu dances. Originally it was to propitiate the gods of the soil in plea for abundant crops. Then the festival was made the occasion of inducting boys of the tribe into the society of the men. This year it will have a three-fold significance because a new tribal chief is to be initiated. His identity has not been revealed.

Very little is known about the original and inner meaning of the dance as the Indians consider it sacred and do not confide much about it to white men, although allowing them to witness it.

"When the spirit moves them" the dancers begin. They continue, usually for nine days. Special observers, including Julian Hayes Stewart, graduate student in anthropology of the University of California, have arrived early so as not to miss the opening. Stewart represents the Southwest Society of America, which is interested in preserving records of the life and culture of the Indians of the southwest.

Many American notables have been honored guests at the ceremony, including the late Theodore Roosevelt.

Out of the dance have grown various ceremonies adopted by white men, some of them in burlesque. Recently in Phoenix a group of 50 white men held such a dance, dressed in tropical garb and using live snakes. The dancers were prosaic business men of Prescott, organized as members of "the Smoki clan." They presented the dance on behalf of charity. The genuine Smokis and Hopis are of the same tribe and the names often are used interchangeably. Snakes used by them in their dances are regarded as "little brothers of the rain gods" and some are valued as high as $1,000 each.

After the ceremony they are released as "message bearers to the deities."

The largest fighting ship in the world is H. M. S. Nelson of the British navy.

Royalty of Europe Romps in Old Film

Copenhagen, Denmark.—(AP)—In his private archives King Christian of Denmark stores a series of films depicting court at the dawn of the present century, films never seen by the ordinary movie fans. Most of them were taken during visits to the Danish court of other crowned heads.

On festive gatherings of a more private character, King Christian delights in showing some of these films to his friends. One shows the arrival in 1902 of the late Czar Nicholas and his family at Fredensborg Castle, summer residence of King Christian IX, also called the father-in-law of Europe. One of his daughters married Czar Alexander II, the other King Edward of England. His son George became King of Greece, and his grandson Haakon king of Norway.

The film moves in the jumpy tempo of early movies. The tremendous dignity of tall-hatted and frock-coated high officials is hopelessly lost in the jerky movements of the antiquated film. Most interesting of all the films is one illustrating an afternoon spent on the famous terrace of Fredensborg Castle. One sees the venerable King Christian IX surrounded by the whole royal clan. The Dowager-Empress of Russia appears arm in arm with her beautiful sister, Alexandra of England, both looking like very young girls. King George of Greece and Prince Waldemar (the father-in-law of Princess Viggo, formerly Miss Peggy Green of New York) are ragging Czar Nicholas, who re-venge himself by squeezing Prince Waldemar's soft felt hat down over his ears and eyes. The royal children of all nationalities romp about happily.

HEAD WANAMAKER STORES DIES IN EAST THIS MORN

Rodman Wanamaker, Merchant Prince, Called Suddenly

(Picture on Page 1)
New York, March 9—(AP)—Rodman Wanamaker, head of the Wanamaker Stores, died at 2 o'clock this morning at Atlantic City. It was announced here by Grover Whalen, executive head of the firm.

He had been ill but four days with a cold, and had been confined to his bed at his home, 5801 Atlantic Avenue, Atlantic City.

Captain John Wanamaker, his son; and his daughter, Mrs. Hector Munn, were at his bedside.

The body will be taken to his country estate near Philadelphia today to await funeral arrangements.

Whalen announced that all the Wanamaker stores in New York, Philadelphia, Paris and London would be closed, starting today, until after the funeral ceremonies.

Had Appeared Well
Mr. Wanamaker had been at his Atlantic City home two weeks, Mr. Whalen said, and had apparently been in perfect health until he contracted the cold which caused his death.

He was under the care of a physician but his condition was not believed to be critical until last night.

Mr. Wanamaker, although generally known as Rodman Wanamaker, was christened Lewis Rodman Wanamaker. He was 65 years old.

Long known as an aviation enthusiast he gained his chief fame along that line by backing the successful flight of Commander Richard F. Byrd to France last summer.

At the time it was said he had spent $500,000 on proposed trans-Atlantic flights, about half of that amount being for the Byrd expedition. He had also offered a reward of $25,000 for the finding of Nungesser and Goh, the two French flyers who lost their lives in an attempt to make the westward flight.

While one of the world's leading merchants Wanamaker marked his career for posterity by his support of aviation and public work.

"It is not a dream," he said once, "that within a few years we shall be able to enter an aircraft in New York on Friday afternoon, be in London on Saturday, spend the week-end there and return to New York in time for business Monday."

Was Enthusiast
Wanamaker did not plot the future of aviation, but he stimulated the progress of it. His hand in its development was simply that of an amateur enthusiast. As a young man he believed the air would some day connect two continents, and lived to see daring aviators of three countries cross the waters of the Atlantic in one hop.

In 1914 Wanamaker helped design, and had built, the "America," a hydroplane, with which he proposed to cross the Atlantic. The project was abandoned when the war broke out and the "America" was turned over to the Allies.

After Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd flew over the North Pole, he paid tribute to Wanamaker's service to aviation at a luncheon in his honor.

So far did Wanamaker's interest in the conquest of the air carry him that it became his hobby to acquire for public exhibition, when possible, the aircraft which had found places in history.

Liked Science.
Wanamaker also had a predilection for science and discovery which brought him to a study of the North American Indian. He saw a race vanishing, and believing its customs worth study and its ruins worth preserving, he advanced funds to conduct research and compile data on the Red Man.

Three expeditions were sponsored by him under the authority of the United States bureau of Indian affairs to go into the Indian country.

His public service also included the office of special deputy police commissioner of New York City in charge of police reserve, and welfare committee work. He was chosen in 1924 to head the mayor's committee for reception of distinguished guests at the time of the democratic national convention at Madison Square Garden.

Son of a distinguished father, John Wanamaker, Lewis Rodman was born in Philadelphia in 1863. He attended Princeton University, was graduated in 1886, and immediately entered the house of Wanamaker to learn the business.

Al Williams—Latest in Loops

Naval Daredevil Al Williams set a new aerial fashion by his unprecedented execution of two successive outside loops over Anacostia, D. C., while testing the strength of a swift new combat plane. Nosing downward at 200 miles an hour from an altitude of 3000 feet, he pulled the machine over on its back and then climbed into an upright position again completing the first vertical circle; then he rolled over on his back, dove a bit to gain flying speed, zoomed upward, leveled off and dove once more, completing the second loop upside down.

Beautiful Ruth Recuperates

A cold and fatigue forced Ruth Elder, of trans-Atlantic flight fame, to interrupt her vaudeville tour for a brief rest. Here she is recuperating in the home of a New York friend.

COL. SMITH MADE BITTER ATTACK ON U. S. SENATE

their own purity' is to besmear the character of another—if that safely can be done. You all know that, also, from your dealings with men and children."

No Limit in Senate

Then he told of the Senate's immunity from prosecution for libel, adding:

"The Senate chamber is the supreme and safest vantage point in all this world to launch attacks upon the character, morals, politics or religion of any one whomsoever. There are no restrictions upon such attacks there; neither limits of time nor limits of decency.

"Slander and libel are not recognized as such. And none who are attacked can answer upon equal is exempt from either slander or libel in the United States Senate—no one, mind you, from the President to a prisoner in the penitentiary, except—and note this exception, because it is important—except members of the club.

"If you are a member of the United States Senate, the rules of the club protect you. They say: No senator shall, directly or indirectly, by any form of words impute to another senator or senators any conduct or motive unworthy or unbecoming a senator."

"But for the rest of the world the lid is off. At any time any senator may, and day after day certain senators do, slander, libel, and without any foundation in fact attribute the worst motives to every grade of citizen this nation produces, with entire immunity from any legal consequences whatever."

Foes are 'Candidates'

Relating how Governor Small appointed him to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator McKinley, whom he defeated in the primary, Col. Smith said: "The senatorial candidates for President raised a clamor to bar me at the door of their sacred chamber" before he even started for Washington to present his credentials.

"Why?" he asked. "They will give you an answer, but I'll give you the true one. If I were admitted and allowed a seat in the club, every presidential candidate would have to be circumspect in what he said about me; he would have to confine himself to the facts in the record; he would have to be careful not to charge me with 'motives unworthy or unbecoming a senator.'"

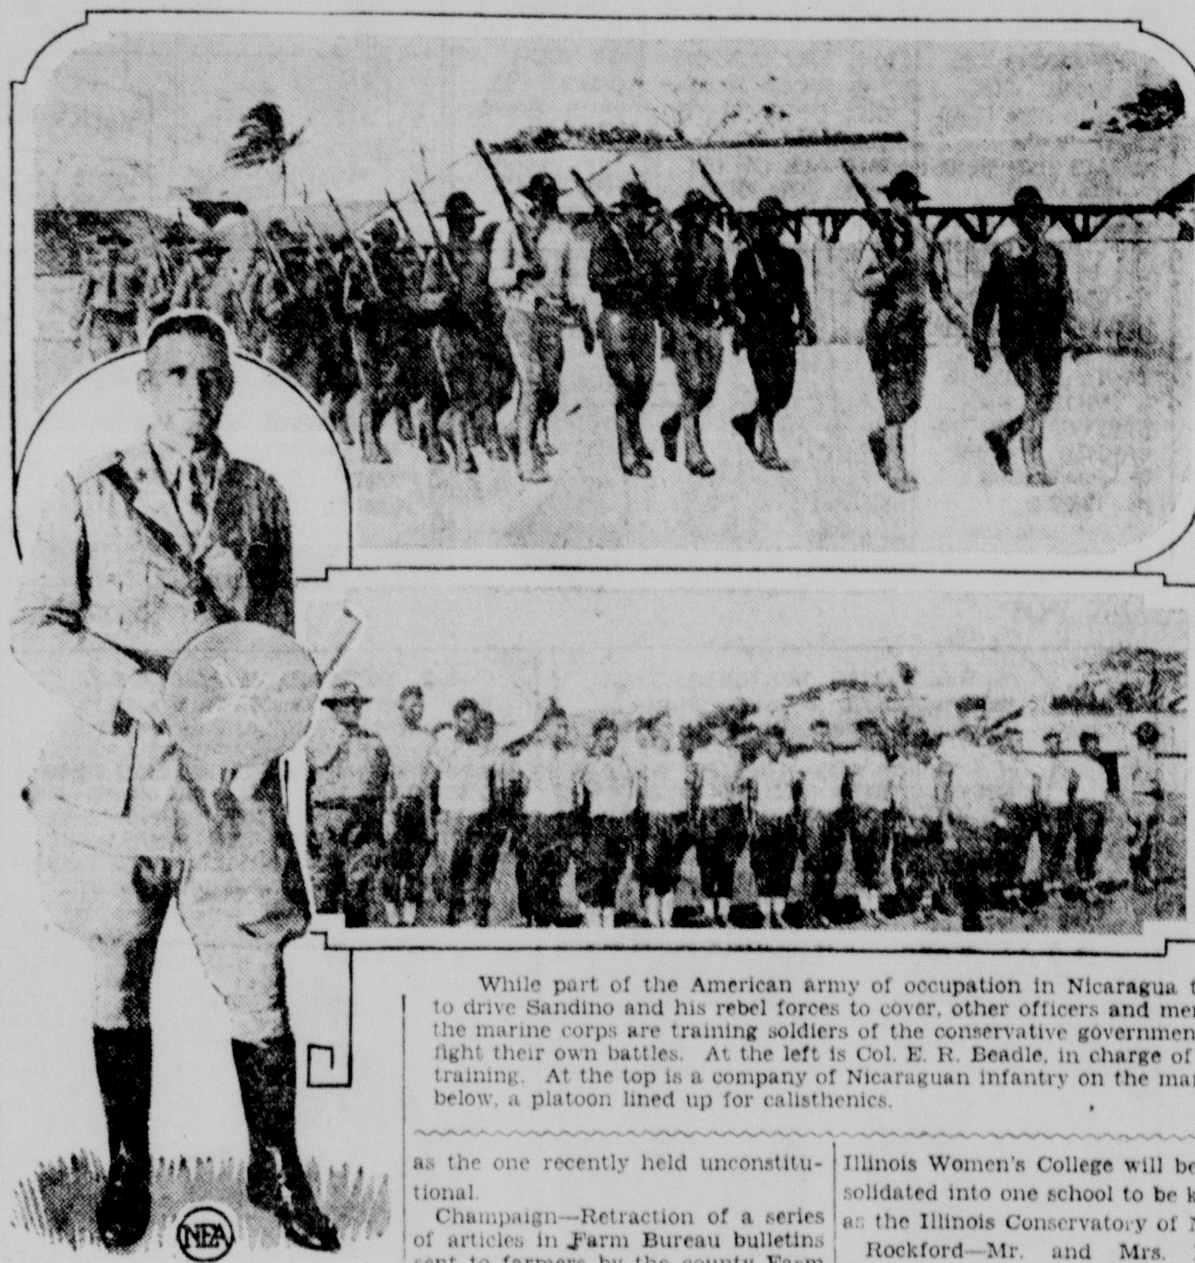

"Rod Toters" Back

Just before adjournment, the Senate accepted his credentials for the six-year term, but when the next Congress convened, last December, the lightning rod toters were more numerous than ever," he asserted.

As before, the "clamor to bar me at the door" was raised again. The Democrats "at the insistence of presidential candidates" made the subject a caucus matter and "for the stated purpose of doing everything possible to hurt the Republicans they flung away the only principle to which they had ever been faithful—the principle of state sovereignty for which they have shouted since Andrew Jackson's day."

He maintained that if re-elected he would be seated without question.

- 2—You can change only one letter at a time.

THE ANSWER
Here is one solution to the LATER GOLF puzzle on page 10:

Moored?
Spiked?
Neither.

Washingtonians were treated to the illusion that the Monument was being pressed into service as a mooring mast by an Army blimp when they beheld this view. In reality, the airship merely was passing to the rear while dropping anniversary flowers on the Washington and Lincoln memorials.

"I've asked Mr. Allen to join us tonight," Vance vouchsafed, when he had introduced us. "You don't play poker, and we really need another hand to make the game interesting," y' know. Mr. Allen, by the bye, is an old antagonist of mine."

The fact that Vance would, apparently without permission, bring an uninvited guest to Markham's apartment amazed me but little more than the appearance of the man himself. He was rather short, with sharp, shrewd features; and what I saw of his hair beneath his jauntyly tipped hat was black and sleek like the painted hair on Japanese dolls. I noted, too, that his evening tie was enlivened by a design of tiny white forget-me-nots, and that his shirt front was adorned with diamond studs.

The contrast between him and the immaculately stylish and meticulously correct Vance was aggressively evident. I wondered what could be the relationship between them. Obviously it was neither social nor intellectual.

Cleaver and Mannix were already on hand when we were ushered into Markham's drawing room, and a few minutes later Spotswoode arrived. The amenities of introduction over, we were soon seated comfortably about the open log fire smoking, and sipping very excellent Scotch highballs.

A tense atmosphere lay beneath the apur and affected affability of the little gathering. Indeed, the situation was scarcely conducive to spontaneity. Here were three men each of whom was known to the others to have been interested in the same woman; and the reason for their having been brought together was the fact that this woman had been murdered.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE, District Attorney, Lee County, Illinois.
JOHN F. X. MARKHAM, District Attorney, Lee County, Illinois.
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY"), a woman of about twenty.
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer.
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer.
DR. AMBROISE LINQUIST, a fashionable neurologist.
TOBY SKELTON, the professional burglar.
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator.
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator.
LEWIS HEATH, Sergeant of the Homeless Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR
Margaret Odell is found strangled. Skeel's fingerprints are found in the apartment, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the stranger did his work. The thing that baffles police is the side door to the alley. It had been bolted on the inside, and yet before and found that way in the morning. Mannix, Dr. Linquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to her door at the sound of a scream, but had been reassured through the door that nothing was wrong. Then Skeel is found strangled, and promising to reveal the murderer. Vance then demonstrates how Skeel had been on the inside of the side door and unlocked the bolt. He suggests to Markham that Cleaver, Mannix and Spotswoode be invited to play poker with them and he will tell Markham who committed the murder.

CHAPTER XLVII
(Monday, September 17; 9 p. m.)

VANCE and I went home after lunch, and at about four o'clock Markham telephoned to say that he had made the necessary arrangements for the evening with Spotswoode, Mannix and Cleaver.

Immediately following this confirmation Vance left the house, and did not return until nearly eight o'clock. Though I was filled with curiosity at so unusual a proceeding, he refused to enlighten me. But when, at a quarter to nine, we went downstairs to the waiting car, there was a man I did not know in the tonneau; and I at once connected him with Vance's mysterious absence.

PAW PAW PULLS "FAST ONE" IN STERLING MEET

Defeated Tampico to Great Surprise of Tourney Fans

The northwest Illinois district basketball tournament for 1928 opened yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium of the Sterling high school and is progressing today before a record crowd of enthusiastic spectators. In the opening games played yesterday, the Paw Paw high school team of this county sprung an unexpected surprise.

Paw Paw was matched against Tampico in the first of the two games series last evening and won by a score of 20 to 15. Tampico was rated as being one of the strongest smaller teams of the tournament and appeared to be confident of going a long way in the tournament. The Tampico coach started his second string men against Paw Paw, while the latter started in scoring and had soon piled up a lead which their opponents could not overcome. By defeating Tampico, Paw Paw is now scheduled to play the winner of the Ohio-Erie game this evening at 8 o'clock. Ohio and Erie were scheduled to open play this morning.

Fulton romped away with Hoopville in the opening game of the tournament yesterday afternoon, winning by a score of 32 to 18. Rock Falls followed up by defeating Morrison by a 31 to 14 count. Paw Paw started the evening program, taking Tampico into camp by a 20 to 15 score. Sterling had no difficulty in winning from Prophetstown by a score of 44 to 11. This morning at 9:30 Ohio and Erie were to contest and decide a fit opposition for the plucky Paw Paw team. Dixon made its first appearance with a badly crippled team against Amboy at 10:30. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Albany and Fulton clash and this game will be followed by the Rock Falls-Walnut contest. This evening at 8 o'clock Paw Paw meets the winner of the Ohio and Erie game.

Big Ten Track Meet at Iowa Field House

Iowa City, Ia., March 9.—(AP)—The fast six lap track in Iowa's mammoth new field house becomes the setting tonight for the Western Conference indoor track meet. It is the first time the event has been held here. Preliminaries in the track and field events open the annual competition among the field of 300 which includes a smaller quota of stars than for many years.

Distances in the short, dash and high hurdles have been increased to sixty and seventy yards respectively, so that two new marks are certain to be established. Study of dual meet records indicates no great danger of other marks except perhaps in the shot put. Dan Lyon of Illinois, the conference champion in heaving 16 pound lead is figured to repeat last year's victory. The other two title holders, Dick Williams of Chicago in the 880 and Leonard Humm of Iowa in the two mile, will have keen competition. Humm has just recovered from an operation for appendicitis.

Wisconsin probably will be compelled to relinquish its team championship, as Capt. Chuck McGinnis, winner of three firsts last year, has graduated. Illinois and Iowa are the strongest contenders, with Ohio State presenting a well-balanced squad and Michigan in the role of a dark horse. The Wolverines have participated in no dual meets this winter.

Marathon Racers Deep in Desert

Mojave Wells, Cal., March 9.—(AP)—To this tiny oasis in the Mojave Desert, dreaded by the pioneers of yesterday, today had come afoot a band of modern treasure-seekers in their race to reach a $48,500 pot of gold which awaits them in New York at the end of a 3,400 mile marathon trail.

Their course today led them deeper into the desert to Bagdad, 44 miles distant. A blistering sun that beat remorselessly upon them, and the chill winds of the desert, were battled by the marathoners yesterday in their 32.5 mile dash from Barstow. At the head of the weather-beaten line of runners and walkers was the sun-bronzed Arthur Newton from the veldts of central Africa, who, in finishing first in yesterday's lap, took the lead in total elapsed time for the 165.6 miles out from Los Angeles. The 44 year old campaigner trudged the route in four hours and 48 minutes for a total of 24 hours, 28 minutes and 30 seconds.

A few minutes behind Newton in total elapsed time came Olli Wantinen, 96 pound Finnish racer, whose steady running to date has kept him near the top. The flying mile crossed the timing line third but his running time for the five laps ranked second being 24 hours, 32 minutes and 37 seconds. Wantinen's time for the 32.5 miles was five hours, 16 minutes and 55 seconds.

YOUTH AND SIZE MAIN ASSETS OF BOSTON RED SOX

Carrigan's Boys Also Display Enthusiasm In Their Work

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Bradenton, Fla., March 9.—(AP)—Youth, size and enthusiasm are three baseball assets of the Boston Red Sox. In the main Bill Carrigan's athletes for 1928 are big fellows, most of them are young and all have an abundance of spirit.

The outfield is the most mature department. Ken Williams, the former hardhitting St. Louis Brown, is now a Red Sox and will play left field. He is 34 years of age as is Ira Flagstead, one of Boston's best performers. Denny Williams, who spent two years with the Red Sox but has been at Mobile of late, will probably play right field, is 28. The other outfielders are youngsters, Arlie Tarbert, Ohio State University player; Doug Taitt, a hard-hitter from Nashville; and Gus Loepp, another outfielder who was able to hit in the minor leagues.

The infield seems destined to consist of Phil Todd at first, Bill Regan for second, Jack Rothrock playing short and Bill Rogell taking care of third. Rudy Meyer, the ex-Senator, and Russell Rollins a Sox last year, will doubtless be in at intervals.

Has Four Catchers
Fred Hofman as the only veteran catcher in camp has been given additional responsibility by Manager Carrigan and seems to be ex-officio member of the board of strategy. John Heving, who was with Toledo last year, will give Hofman a lift and under Manager Bill's plan to carry four catchers, Charles Berry, who was with Dallas last year, and Ed Doherty, who caught for Holy Cross, may become regular big leaguers.

Bryan Harriss, standing six inches over six feet, tops the pitchers in inches, age and experience. Other pitchers brought over from last season include Charlie Ruffing, Jack Russell, Danny MacFayden, Long Jack Wilson, and Harold Wiltse. Young pitchers threatening to crowd some of the veterans from the staff include Merle Settlemyer, left hander from Mobile; Clifford Garrison from the Texas Valley and Ed Morris, another recruit from Mobile.

Here are two ideas for rescuing men in sunken submarines and salvaging the under-water boats, which have been submitted to the Navy Department by Barry M. Gorden, engineer. He suggests a huge crane supported by two mammoth pontoons, from which a series of huge "ice tongs" would drop into the water and grapple the sunken submarine, as shown in the illustration. The inset shows his proposed safety helmet, which, he believes, would enable the men to float to the surface if they could escape from the submarine.

Badgers vs Illini

Urbana, Ill., March 9.—(AP)—

Third place in the Western Conference basketball standings was the goal of Wisconsin tonight in the final game of the season for Illinois and Wisconsin. Victory for the Badgers would give them a tie with Northwestern, with a season record of nine victories and three defeats.

The Badgers have not forgotten the one-point upset when Illinois defeated them at Madison earlier in the season, because the timekeeper's pistol did not fire properly. Four of the Badgers close their conference careers tonight. Andrews and Behr, who have been companion forwards since their high school days in Rockford, Hotchkiss and Nelson.
